Biography

Şükrü Güllüoğlu, PhD, is an Assistant Professor from Marmara University. Güllüoğlu has extensive experience and knowledge about molecular biology and cell biology of various cancers specifically on non-coding RNAs and tumor promoting inflammation. He has received his PhD from Yeditepe university by his work about microRNAs and tumorigenic inflammatory pathways in chordoma. In addition to chordoma, the Güllüoğlu has publications about microarrays of prostate cancer, glioblastoma multiforme and meningioma. After obtaining his PhD degree, Güllüoğlu was appointed as a Post-Doctoral Research Officer at National University of Singapore, where he took part on RNA vaccine technology research involving Next-Gen sequencing library preparation and analysis.
